

HELP!

I've been Promoted!

6 TIPS FOR YOUNG AND INEXPERIENCED
MANAGERS

My "why" for this project...

When I was 19 I was promoted to General Manager...

I felt ill-prepared for hiring, firing, and correcting employees. I think I did pretty great all things considering, but I know that if that's how well I did, there had to be other managers faring much worse.

1. Respect the Role

You have a lot of positional power as manager. It's important to keep yourself humble and continue to respect those that you manage.

Adaptability

Authenticity

Confident Communication

Soft Skills

2. Build Soft Skills

3. Catching

What are your team's interests?

Discover the WHY

the vision

T i k

6 Tips for Young and Inexperienced Managers
Pt. 2

o k

4. Assessing Self-Awareness

The Habit of Overrating Abilities
& Recognizing Flaws

Self-Awareness

5. How to interview

Be Kind

Be Smart

Be Legal

T i k

6 tips to help Young and Inexperienced Managers
Pt. 3

r o k

6. Feedback

Tact

&

One-on-ones

feedback

Tik Tok & LinkedIn

Sharing my message on social media platforms was a great way for me to practice video skills that will be crucial in a changing modern world. It got me out of my comfort zone and helped me feel confident in my ability to present a concise message.

Thank You!

Big thank you to all my professors! I am so grateful for the education that I have received at BYU-I and the part that you all played. I'll see you later ;)